United States v. Grewal, Case No. SACR 05- JVS

Sentencing Memorandum

This matter is before the Court for sentencing defendant Preet Singh Grewal (“Grewal”) on his plea to Count I of the Indictment for violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1), felon in possession of a firearm. In arriving at a reasonable sentence as instructed by United States v. Booker, ___ U.S. ___, 125 S. Ct. 738 (2005), the Court has taken into consideration the United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, the policies of the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a), and the specific facts of this case. As set forth below, the Court finds that a sentence of 18 months imprisonment with a waiver of fine and 12 months in a residential drug rehabilitation program as part of supervised release represents a reasonable sentence in light of all of these factors.

1. Sentencing Guidelines. The Court adopts the Guidelines analysis of the Presentence Report.

1.2. Offense Level. The Court concurs that the applicable guideline is Section 2K2.1(a)(4)(A) which provides a base offense level of 20. A 4-level enhancement is required because the gun was possessed in connection with another crime punishable by imprisonment for more than a year. U.S.S.G § 2K2.1(b)(5). Grewal is entitled to a 3-level reduction for accepting responsibility. U.S.S.G. § 3E1.1(b). The Court finds that the record before the Court establishes by a preponderance of the evidence the basis for each enhancement and the reduction. The adjusted offense level is 21.

1.3. Criminal History. The Court concurs that the defendant’s Criminal History Category is III, based state convictions in 1998 and 2004 (1 point each) and commission of the present offense while on probation (2 points). Four Criminal History points places Grewal in Category III.

1.4. Departures. The Court acknowledges that it has discretion to depart from the sentence which results from an application of the Guidelines. The Court finds that there is no basis for a departure in this case.

1.5. Conclusion. The Court finds that proper application of the Guidelines calls for a sentence imprisonment for 46 to 57 months with a waiver of fine.

2. Sentencing Reform Act. Consistent with the following factors, the Court assesses the propriety of the Guidelines sentence.

2.1. Nature of Circumstances of the Offense and History and Characteristics of Defendant. The Court finds that the Guidelines analysis has not taken into account this factor. Grewal has been diagnosed with Bipolar Disorder. During the period of this offense, there was a mixup in his medication which appears to have contributed materially to his conduct. Prior to present offense, he had been free of drug usage for a substantial period and had been leading a constructive life, either employed or pursuing his education. During his incarceration awaiting sentence, he has earned several certificates. In light of these unusual circumstances, the Probation Officer has recommended a term of 30 months, and the Government concurs in the recommendation. At sentencing, the Government also concurred in Grewal's request that a portion of the sentence be served in a residential drug facility. The Court finds that facts of this case warrant the recommended reduction of 17 months below the low guideline and service of part of the term in a residential drug facility.

2.2. Need for Sentence to Reflect Seriousness of Offense, to Promote Respect for Law, and to Provide Just Punishment. The Court finds that the Guidelines analysis has taken into account this factor. A 30-month sentence of imprisonment and a residential drug program continues to satisfy this goal.

2.3 Need to Afford Adequate Deterrence of Criminal Conduct. The Court finds that the Guidelines analysis has taken into account this factor.

2.4. Need to Protect the Public. The Court finds that the Guidelines analysis has taken into account this factor. A 30-month sentence of imprisonment and a residential drug program continues to satisfy this goal.

2.5. Need to Provide Defendant Individualized Service Needs. Grewal will have access to drug treatment and rehabilitation and other rehabilitation services while in prison. However, the Court also finds that Grewal would benefit from a residential drug program as part of supervised release.

2.6. Kinds of Sentences Available. Because Guidelines sentence falls within Zone D, the minimum term (46 months) must be satisfied through imprisonment. U.S.S.G. § 5C1.1(f). Even though the Court departs downward, the sentence is still in Zone D, and the Court independently concludes that imprisonment is proper in this case. However, for the reasons noted above, the Court splits the 30 months between imprisonment (18 months) and a residential drug facility (12 months.)

3. Facts of the Case. There are no additional facts which the Guidelines analysis and the other factors in Section 3553(a) have not taken into account or have not adequately taken into account.

4. Conclusion. In setting this sentence, the Court has taken into account that it has discretion under both the Guidelines and Booker in setting Grewal's sentence, but has only relied on its Booker discretion in setting the present sentence. The Court finds that taking into account the analysis mandated by Booker, a sentence of 18 months imprisonment with a waiver of fine and 12 months in a residential drug rehabilitation program as part of supervised release represents a reasonable sentence.
